

As an Indiana citizen I enjoy the privacy given to me by the Indiana telephone privacy law. I oppose the Consumer Bankers Association trying to weaken the telephone privacy law. The FCC should step up and tell the CBA that the purpose of the law was to deny unwanted telephone calls from banks, credit card companies and any other affiliations that the bank owns. Again as a citizen of Indiana please keep the telephone privacy law in tact by not allowing needless calls from banks, credit card companies and affiliates of the bank. Union Federal of Indianapolis can continue to sell their services through the blue men (Colts) and we can all laugh but I do not want to hear them selling me free checking accounts through a telephone call at my home. Thank you and keep a stiff upper lip.
